"Our domestic, Minnie, has a bright little girl," writes Mrs. L. C. Smith, 30 North Washington St., Rochester, N. Y., "and I have become much interested in the family. Poor thing she little knows that her poor mother has had the consumption. She is from a consumptive family and had been on the decline till the unerring 'hectic flush' set in. Well I went for Dr. Fenner's Golden Relief, giving her 5 drops on a small lump of sugar, every 2 hours. I used it with her about a month and you ought to see the change! She has become hale and buxom. I am knowing to several other cures of consumption by it."

DR. WHITEHALL'S RHEUMATIC CURE

For the benefit of persons afflicted with rheumatism in any of its various forms, we confidently offer DR. WHITEHALL'S RHEUMATIC CURE as a prompt and efficient remedy, one that can be relied upon at all times. In the inflammatory form of the disease, relief may be expected in a few hours, the fever subsiding, the pain ceasing and swelling diminishing from the beginning of the treatment.

In the treatment of chronic cases, in order to eliminate the constantly accumulating poison from the system, the remedy must be persevered in until a healthy action of the different organs can be established, and its formation entirely suspended. Persons liable to rheumatic attacks from any cause, such as error in diet, exposure to draft of air, over heating, dampness or change in the weather, should begin to take the remedy as soon as first symptoms are noticed, thereby avoiding much distress, inconvenience and pain.

If you have stiff neck, lame back, muscular soreness, tender, inflamed and swollen joints, you can confidently expect quick relief by the use of DR. WHITEHALL'S RHEUMATIC CURE.

GHOSTLY LIGHTS.

Sensational Experience of a Sleighting Party.

William O'Connor, who resides at Kirksville, in Madison county, is very much puzzled and excited over an experience he had with a ghastly fire phenomenon, three miles from Richmond recently. He professes to be a skeptic on the subject of spiritualism, and relates a remarkable and interesting story of his late adventure.

In company with two young men and two young ladies, Mr. O'Connor left Richmond, on Monday night, January 16, in a sleigh drawn by two fleet horses. They were on their way to a party at Kirksville.

The night was cold, and a light snow was falling, but it was not too dark to see objects twenty-five yards away. When they reached a point about three miles southwest of that city one of the young men saw a brilliant light over on a hillside, about one hundred yards from the roadside, and called attention of the party to it.

The crowd thought it was the reflection of a lamp burning in a house near by, but as the latter was 300 yards away and the light on the hillside exceedingly bright, they were unwilling to accept this. They stopped to investigate the strange scene. At this time the light began to slowly circle round, rising a great distance from the ground, then falling to the earth again in large circles.

Mr. O'Connor describes the appearance of the light as electric in brilliancy, and says there was no human near the spot; had there been he would have been visible, as the light was so bright. The curiosity of the young men arose to a high pitch at this time, and two of them alighted and waded through deep snow drifts, and stood for a quarter of an hour watching the strange phenomenon.

Being chilled, the party resumed their journey. They drove to the farm house where the party was to be given, and witnessed the same peculiar spectacle which they had come in contact with an hour before. At the farm-gate they again watched the light another quarter of an hour, which continued to approach them, circling as it came. Mr. O'Connor and companions are unable to fathom the mystery, and others who have witnessed the same sight at or near this spot are likewise puzzled to know what it is.

Mt. Sterling's Gas Find.

Natural gas has been struck near Mt. Sterling, and the town, as is usual on such occasions, is wild with excitement. Mt. Sterling, within the blue-grass belt, and yet on the border of the mountains, is a distributing point for twenty-seven counties, and if this gas find comes up to expectations her growth will be marvelous, and she will become one of the leading resident manufacturing and mercantile cities of the south. A short distance from her, not exceeding twenty-five miles, are rich coal fields, fine iron ore and the best hard and soft timber of the country. Cannel coal fifty miles from her is pryed from the bed of Grassy Creek and split to a feather edge when dry can be ignited from a match, and veins in some places exceed seven feet in thickness. With these contiguous resources and a valuable gas find, her people have bright anticipations.—Covington Commonwealth.

Mr. C. F. Davis, editor of the Bloomfield, Iowa, Farmer, says: "I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to all sufferers with colds and croup. I have used it in my family for the past two years and have found it the best I ever used for the purpose for which it is intended.—50¢ bottles for sale by Rose & Jones.

Gabe Elam, of Wolfe county, was convicted of selling his vote and was disfranchised for life. A proper punishment, all will say. But how about the man that bought it? What should be done with him?—Winchester Democrat.

DRAWN TO DISHONOR.

The Property of the Georgia Confederate Soldiers' Home is for Sale.

The home was built as a refuge for the needy and helpless old veterans in their declining years. This home for the homeless and helpless was given to the state and all that was asked was a small annual appropriation for its support. Two successive Georgia legislatures refused to give it—and the home is for sale. And thus Georgia is dishonored. The proud state that gave the country a Hill, a Stephens, a Toombs, a Grady, and a host of other great-minded and great-headed statesmen, has become the prey of low and scurvy demagogues. The miserable little imitations of men that now defile Georgia's state capital and scrawl their ignorance and meanness upon the statute books are living liars upon a great state and a noble people. God forbid that any man should point to these and say, "of such is the state of Georgia." The great state is standing on her head. Her brains are in the dirt and her feet are in the air. It was not the head nor the heart of Georgia that turned the old confederate from the home that loving hands had reared for him and bade him find his refuge in the grave. But all the same, the base wretches who did the work have written a chapter of Georgia's history—the only chapter that will be stained with tears of sorrow and shame. And the men who did it are "reformers." They are rapidly righteous representatives of that blessed scheme of redemption and plan of salvation compendiously described as Oculism. They have been mighty in Georgia. And this is their only work. They have disgraced their state, dishonored and insulted the old veteran and have made themselves the objects of every honest man's loathing and contempt.—Memphis Commercial.

OLD IN AN INSTANT.

Congressmen Learn How Liquors Are Adulterated.

The recent session in the subcommittee of the house judiciary committee investigating the whisky trust was devoted to watching experiments by Mr. Veazey in producing liquors by adulteration. By the use of essential oil and essences and coloring matters he produced in a few minutes whiskies, rums and gins similar to those that were placed on the market and sold as pure goods. The basis for this product was an odorless and colorless liquid known to the trade as spirits. It was worth about $1.30 per gallon.

By the use of compounds worth about one and one-half cents he produced a gallon of liquor that would sell as high as $4. The production of adulterated goods represented one-half the liquor business of the country. By misrepresentation these goods were worked up on the entire trade of the country.

Mr. Veazey urged that certain witnesses, no names given, be called as soon as possible, as some of them would find it more convenient to be in Europe than before the committee, if they were given time.

Imprisonment Did Not Reform Him.

Gillis Johnson celebrated his return from the penitentiary to Middlesborough by arming himself with two pistols and making an attack upon John S. Turner, at his saloon. Johnson was proprietor of the notorious Gum Spring saloon at the time Rasmussen was captured and hanged by a mob for his connection with the trouble there. He was arrested and sent to the penitentiary for one year. His time expired on the 1st.

Sizemore's Injuries Prove Fatal.

After nine days' suffering, Alex Sizemore, who was injured by the explosion of gas in a cistern at the corner of Limestone and Third streets, Lexington, is dead at his home in that city. He was twenty-nine years old, leaves a wife and one child, and carried an accident policy for $2,000.

TORRENT TINKLINGS.

A Newey Letter Received Too Late For Last Week's Issue.

TORRENT, Wolfe county, Feb. 8.—George Rice started home Tuesday for a visit to his parents. George has been in Torrent for about eight months, and never has lost a day. We think it is time for him to make a break. His brother is attending to his business while he is gone. Clark makes a good business man for this country, and is well liked by every one. He will go to Clay City to accept a position with Floyd Day & Co. on his brother's return. We don't like to see him leave, and all wish him success in his new field of labor, for he is a deserving young man.

Sam Cox, deputy county assessor, was in town the other day trying to see us poor devils. None of us had more than the law allowed us, so very little consolation he received in our city.

J. B. Holland is in town tonight on his way to Bath county to see his little girl. Buck, get married and gather them together again and you will be happy once more.

PUFFING BILL.

The Capture of Brock Roberts.

Brock Roberts who was sentenced to life imprisonment at the last June term of the Breathitt circuit court for the murder of James D. Bowman, and who escaped from our jail last October was captured last Friday near Dalton, Ga., by Detective G. W. Drake, of Campton, and Sunday night was delivered by him to Jailer Centers. The friends of Bowman put the case into Mr. Drake's hands a few weeks ago, and he soon located him in Georgia. He left here Thursday morning the 2d and the next morning by day light he had Roberts in custody. He reached Dalton, Ga., at midnight, and went on horseback 25 miles to Villanow, where he found the convicted man. Roberts was going under the name of Caudill. When Drake arrived at Lexington, Sunday, he despatched to Jailer Centers that he would be here on the evening train, and a large crowd met him at the depot. Mr. Drake is rapidly becoming the most noted detective in this section of the state. He has worked up a number of cases at which others had failed, and when he starts he rarely fails to get his man.

Manslaughter and Burglary.

Geo. Wells, charged with manslaughter, has been convicted in the Marion county circuit court, and sentenced to two years imprisonment in the penitentiary. Wells shot and killed his father, but claimed that the shooting was accidental. In the same court Frank Chambers was convicted of burglary and his punishment fixed at six years in the penitentiary. There are five other indictments against him for similar offences.

Court at Georgetown.

The first term of the circuit court of Scott county under the new order is in session, with Judge Cantrill on the bench, and John S. Smith prosecuting. Judge Cantrill appointed Judge James F. Askew master commissioner of the court.

Judge J. C. Lykins, Dr. Taulbee, Jonas Vansant and Henry Pieratt, of Wolfe county, and J. H. Hatcher, of Floyd, all potential factors in mountain politics, were here this week.—Winchester Democrat.

Mr. T. E. C. Brinley Has the following to say about the Electropoise and how it cures after effects of La Grippe:

Office Brinley, Miles & Hardy Co., Louisville, Jan. 30, 1893. Gents: While attending the Memphis Fair some months ago I was attacked with severe pains in my arms and legs, the effects of grippe of last winter. I met your agent there, Mr. Harbitt, who is an old friend, and insisted that I use the Electropoise at his office, which I did, with wonderful results. In a short time the pains left me, and concluded to rent a poise. When my rental time had expired I bought it, and would not part with it for my consideration. It is certainly a wonderful instrument, and it is more wonderful as to how it does its work, yet it does it. I think it is the duty of every man to make known to the afflicted anything that will be a benefit to them, and the Electropoise certainly will. Very respectfully, T. E. C. BRINLEY.

Mr. Brinley is one of the oldest and best known plow manufacturers in the country.

The diseases cured by the Electropoise are not confined to any particular class of ailments. By its use oxygen is absorbed through the pores and membranes, adds strength and vigor to the entire system, and will cure any disease where there is vitality to build on and cure is possible. We invite all to call or write and get full particulars.

Judge Lisle Resigns.

Hon. M. C. Lisle, congressman-elect from the Tenth district, has resigned the office of county judge of Clark county, which he now holds, the resignation last Saturday. The board of magistrates will be convened a few days later to elect a successor to serve until the November election, when a new judge will be elected to serve out the remainder of Judge Lisle's term.
